

Professor Stefano Piaserico

Assistant Professor, Dermatology

University Hospital of Padova

Padova, Italy

Stefano Piaserico is an Assistant Professor at the University of Padua, Italy and is Head of the Regional Centre for Psoriasis.

He qualified in Medicine and Surgery in 1997 from the University of Padua and was awarded a PhD in Biochemistry and Biophysics with the thesis: "Photodynamic therapy in dermatology: state of the art and new perspectives. He conducted research also at the Regional Centre for Melanoma at Istituto Oncologico Veneto (IOV) in Italy.

Professor Piaserico's research is mainly based in dermatology and venereology with a key focus on psoriasis, psoriatic arthritis, organ transplant recipients, photodynamic therapy and skin cancer. He has built up a wide portfolio of more than 120 publications in several scientific journals. He is an associate of numerous professional organisations including The Italian Society of Dermatology and the European Academy of Dermatology and Venereology (EADV).
